

2015 - 2016
TECH DIRECTOR

Dear Applicant,

Hello and welcome to the application for the McGill Hong Kong Student Network's (HKSAN) Tech Director position for the 2015-2016 academic year; your interest in applying to be an executive on our team is greatly appreciated!

The Hong Kong Student Network is an official SSMU student-run club, founded in 2006. It remains as one of the foremost cultural organizations at McGill– attracting a rich diversity of members within and around the McGill community, reflective of the dynamics of Hong Kong, a city many of us call home. HKSAN organizes several events that may require the production of promotional videos beforehand, and use of technical audio and visual equipment during the event. As such, the Tech Director takes on the responsibility of managing sound and audio equipment as well as representing HKSAN in artistic yet innovative ways through different media.

The Tech Director's main role is to be knowledgeable with setting up sound/electronic systems involving microphones, speakers, projectors, computers, lights etc. for HKSAN's events. In addition, the Tech Director contributes to visually brand HKSAN as an organization through video production. An eye for creativity, basic skills in cinematography, directing and screenwriting, and familiarity with video editing/graphic design software (Adobe Premiere, Final Cut Pro, Adobe Photoshop, Illustrator, InDesign) are preferable assets for the position of a Tech Director. Possession of a professional camera (DSLR) and some knowledge of photography are also an asset to this position.

It is important to note that a position on the executive team is a substantial time commitment throughout the school year, including the summer. The position comes with serious responsibilities including: mandatory attendance to all HKSAN executive meetings and events organized by HKSAN aside from the duties of a Tech Director. Therefore, taking on the position as a Tech Director will require strong time management skills, for a commitment to HKSAN in addition to a full university workload can be difficult to balance and has required sacrifices in the past. If you are prepared to make this commitment, you will quickly discover that the opportunities that result from your involvement with the executive team will be well worth the effort and that the experience is truly rewarding.

Should you have any questions or inquiries about HKSAN, the roles of a Tech Director, the application process or other opportunities to participate in HKSAN, please do not hesitate to contact me at mcgillhksan@gmail.com. Thank you for taking the time to submit your application. I wish you all the best and look forward to working with you in some capacity over the next academic year!

Sincerely,

Jency Zhen and Jeremy Lee

Co-Presidents, HKSAN 2015=2016
